Dr. Zairong Li is an Adjunct Professor of Biology at Medgar Evens College, City University of New York. He is the course coordinator for the majors’ biology course and also teaches the genetics course. Previously, he was a Howard Hughes Medical Institute postdoctoral fellow in the laboratory of Robert Margolskee at Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York City.